

Day's Dealings in Bonds

The Market

The cheaper railroad bonds recovered yesterday in sympathy with the movement of stocks, and this removed the only notable weak spot from the market in this bond market. The tone to the entire list, Reservoir Alton, Frisco and M. K. & T. issues in particular were strong after an uncertain start, settling in one or two instances as much as 4 points above the low of the day. Liberty bonds were also in better request and firmed up moderately. This condition was also true of many of the higher grade industrial bonds. Foreign government issues moved more irregularly, but changes were narrow.

Sinking Fund Operations

Thousands of dollars interest lost annually because bondholders are not immediately aware that their bonds have been retired. Opportunities for advantageous offers to sinking fund buyers are continually being lost through lack of information.

We make a special point of notifying holders of bonds with callable or sinking fund provisions of every significant development which affects them.

We shall be glad to explain fully this service. Write Service Department.
